

A welding gas regulator is a safety and control device that reduces the high, volatile pressure inside a gas cylinder to a safe, steady, and usable working pressure required for processes like MIG, TIG, or gas welding/

---